Why Scouts BSA! Scouts builds character and instills values for a lifetime.

Your Scout is a Member of a Patrol...

- A Patrol is a group of approximately eight Scouts. The Troop may build Patrols of Scouts of similar age and experience level or they may mix older Scouts into a Patrol with younger Scouts.
- Patrol members work together and learn basic skills and merit badges.
- A Patrol may meet outside of regular Troop meetings to focus on specific advancement activities or community service projects.

Your Scout is a Member of a Scouts BSA Troop...

- Troops are not co-ed, they are either an all-boy or all-girl Troop.
- Troops typically meet once a week and are planned and conducted by Scouts. Adult leaders step in when asked for help and model good behavior.
- Parents are expected to assist the Troop by supporting the Scouts and participating in tasks the Scouts cannot do, such as helping with transportation to an activity.

SCOUT BSA ADVANCEMENT

Scouting provides a series of surmountable obstacles and steps in overcoming them through the advancement method. Advancement is based on the Experiential Learning – designed to expand knowledge and broaden horizons.

Scouts plan their own advancement and progress with mentorship offered from adult leaders. Scouts are recognized for their achievements and encouraged throughout their journey to help them gain self-confidence, self-reliance and the ability to help others along the way.

MERIT BADGES AND RANK REQUIREMENTS

Scouts have 138 merit badges to choose from topics like: Aviation, canoeing, entrepreneurship, game design, first aid, lifesaving, personal management, robotics, snow sports, and wilderness survival.

Scouts work with a Merit Badge Counselor, who is a trained adult leader in their local area with expertise in the merit badge subject. As badges are earned they are added to the Scout's sash and help a Scout move to their next Rank.

EAGLE RANK

Eagle Scout is the highest rank attainable in the Scouts BSA Program. To earn Eagle a Scout must demonstrate citizenship and caring for his community, leadership qualities, outdoor skills, show self-sufficiency and motivation to overcome obstacles. For many, "Eagle Scout = Greater Success In Life."
